FRIENDS OF NEBRASKAN MEET WITH REBUFF.

CAN'T INFLUENCE CONVENTION

POSTPONEMENT SUGGESTION IS NOT WELL RECEIVED.

STATES THREATEN TO BOLT

Unless Convention Is Postponed, Nebraska, Minnesota and Michigan Will Cause Trouble. Decision Reached at Night Caucus.

ST. LOUIS, April 1.—If the friends of William J. Bryan are no more successful tomorrow than they have been today in their attempts to secure a postponement of the Populist convention, which is called for tomorrow morning, three state delegations those of Nebraska, Minnesota and Michigan—will bolt the convention.

The decision to take this action was reached at a caucus held tonight by the Nebraska delegates.

F. Walrath, secretary of the Nebraska state Populist committee, declared today that Nebraska would abide by the action of the convention, but a totally different spirit was shown at tonight's caucus. It was decided that Nebraska should ask for the adoption of a platform, the selection of a new national committee and an adjournment until after the Republican and Democratic conventions are held. If these things are denied, and the convention proceeds to make nominations, Nebraska, which has the full support of Michigan and Minnesota, will walk out.

Unsuccessful Effort.

The night caucus marked the end of a day of earnest but unsuccessful effort on the part of the Bryan people to influence in his favor the action of tomorrow's convention. The majority of the delegates rebuffed the Bryan people at every turn. They refused to classify Bryan as anything but a Democrat, who has no right to participate in the councils of the Populist party or to receive any consideration at its hands.

As soon as the Nebraska delegation arrived its members demanded a postponement of the convention. They declared that in their opinion the nomination of candidates at the present time is premature and that it would be wisdom to await the action of the Republican and Democratic conventions before placing a ticket in the field. They admitted that they are in a minority as compared to the Watson men, but claimed to have letters from Thomas E. Watson himself in which he expressed the opinion that it was unwise to hold the convention so early a date. The Watson men positively refused to listen to any proposal for an adjournment.

Shift Point of Attack.

The Bryan people then shifted their point of attack to the committee on credentials, declaring that some men had come to the convention without being regularly accredited by properly-held state credentials. They made no progress in this direction and then went again before the national committee at the evening session of that body, but no comfort was forthcoming. They then declared that they will carry the fight upon the floor of the convention and seek to bring about an adjournment. Unless a radical change of sentiment sets in the anti-Bryan contingent, the Nebraska delegation will be one hundred strong against [illegible]

The Nebraska delegation arrived early in the day but took headquarters at a hotel in a distant part of the city and practically shut itself off from the rest of the Populists in town until the opening of the afternoon session, when it started the fight for a postponement of the convention.

The convention will be called to order at 10 tomorrow morning in the Olympic theater by James H. Peters of Illinois, chairman of the People's party national committee. After addresses by Mr. Peters, Jerome Kearney, general counsel of Mr. Bryan, who has been declared upon for temporary chairman, John W. Kern of Northern Indiana, the chosen secretary, and W. W. Wheeler of Topeka, Kansas, will be [illegible]

TRAIN STOPS ON BRINK OF CHASM

PASSENGERS MIRACULOUSLY ESCAPE INSTANT DEATH.

BRIDGE ENVELOPED IN FLAMES

CATASTROPHE ON MIDLAND NARROWLY AVERTED.

ENGINES PLUNGE TO BOTTOM

Men in Charge of Two Locomotives Apply Air and Jump in Nick of Time. Brakes Set and Coaches Are Held on the Edge of the Precipice.

BUENA VISTA, Colo., April 1.—Approximately 100 persons narrowly escaped instant and horrible death this afternoon when Colorado Midland passenger train No. 4 rushed up to a burning bridge spanning a chasm several hundred feet deep. Only the prompt application of the air brakes by the engineers, before they leaped for their lives, held the coaches at the brink of the precipice, while the two engines attached to the train plunged to the bottom of the gorge.

Engineer J. Mockabee at the throttle of the forward engine, the moment he came in sight of the burning bridge, opened the air valve. The shock of the tightening brakes attracted Engineer Frank Smith, of the second engine, and upon peering out of his window he saw Mockabee and his fireman leaping from their engine. He turned on the air of his engine and called to his fireman to jump for his life. Both the engine crews landed safely on the ground with slight bruises, but the coaches stopped with a sudden jerk when the engines became detached from the baggage car and fell to the bottom of the gorge.

The baggage car was extended several feet over the edge of the yawning chasm and was badly scorched by the flames of the burning bridge. Beyond a shaking up of the engine crew no one was injured. Passengers were transferred and continued on their journey. Trains will run over the tracks of the Denver and Rio Grande until the bridge is repaired. The bridge spanned a gorge near Yale Siding about four miles east of here.

Passengers on the train that so narrowly escaped plunging into the chasm reached the city at 1:30 o'clock this morning on train No. 5, which left Colorado Springs yesterday at noon. A transfer of passengers was effected at the scene of the accident, and but little time was lost. The westbound passengers on No. 5 were transferred to the coaches of the eastbound train No. 4.

The two engineers mentioned in the dispatch live at Florissant, a station on the Midland road, 29 miles west of Colorado Springs.

The passengers reaching the city early this morning on the train narrowly escaping destruction were none the worse for wear apparently as none were in need of a physician. Some of them did not know of their narrow escape until ordered to change cars at the scene of the burning bridge.

PINCHOT MAKES REPLY

DENIES IMPROPER USE OF PUBLIC FUNDS.

Stoutly Defends Policy of Sending Forest Officials to Meetings of Forestry Bodies.

WASHINGTON, April 1.—In view of the allegations against him on the floor of the House by Messrs. Mondell, Smith and others, Gifford Pinchot, forester, has addressed a letter to Mr. Pound of Nebraska, a member of the committee on agriculture, in the form of himself.

Mr. Pinchot denies that either the forest service or himself ever paid a cent to any newspaper or magazine to advertise the bureau's work, that neither he nor his bureau ever instituted a personal attacks on public men, discusses the misuse of public funds.

It is [illegible] said to anyone who will look into the matter for himself that this character, intelligence and [illegible] Washington [illegible] government and of every edited [illegible] which is the most effective [illegible] of work is [illegible] and has been found [illegible] with.

The best way to prevent any [illegible] of the bureau's work by the press, he said would be to attempt such a campaign of putting or exaggeration as has been [illegible].

No newspaper men, he says further, ever received material from the forest service who did not know it came from the forest service.

Mr. Pinchot closes his letter by defending his policy of sending forest officials to meetings of forestry bodies in order to hear complaints, if any, against the service or to give suggestions.

OCCASION FOR ALARM

MORE TROUBLE IS THREATENED IN HAYTI.

Refugees in Legations Said to Be in Danger of Being Executed. Officials Active.

PORT AU PRINCE, April 1.—The spirit of uncertainty and of unrest still prevails in Port Au Prince. The recent abortive attempt at a second uprising here, in which General Terraque, chief of the cavalry and several other army officers are alleged to have been implicated, has given the government a cause for searching all quarters of the city in the hope of finding other suspects of the involved plot.

The French minister to Hayti, M. Carteron, has recently shown considerable alarm concerning the action the Haytien government may take against the refugees now in the French legation.

Some of the refugees themselves say that the minister has advised them to procure pistols and as much ammunition as possible so that they may be prepared to defend their lives according to the refugees. M. Carteron told them that he was unable to guarantee protection in event of an attack upon the legation by government troops.

The French minister, when asked today with regard to this statement, declined to deny or affirm it, but he did say that he had made a representation of the case to M. Born, the minister of state, pointing out to him the French contention that giving sanctuary to the refugees was an absolutely legitimate proceeding.

It is generally believed here that the alarm of the French minister is unfounded. Up to the present, the government's attitude has been a conciliatory one, and it seems to be its intention not to offer the slightest excuse for foreign intervention.

There are rumors here that summary executions continue in nearby country districts. For a long time past the government has had a large number of so-called political prisoners in hand and it is reported that almost nightly some of these are taken from the prisons transported to the country districts not very remote from the city, and shot. This the government vehemently denies.

The French cruiser D'Estrees has returned here from the island of St. Thomas where she took the refugees from Gonaives. The German cruiser Bremen returned yesterday from Kingston and the United States cruiser Des Moines and the gunboat Marietta are still here, the gunboat Eagle having left two days ago and the gunboat Paducah having sailed for Guantanamo today, where she will coal to return later to Port Au Prince.

MONTANA STANDS THE TEST

Armored Cruiser Exceeds Speed Required by Small Margin.

ROCKLAND, Me., April 1.—Facing adverse conditions today, in the way of high winds and heavy seas, the armored cruiser Montana exceeded her contract requirements by a slender margin on the Rockland trial course. Her fastest mile, which was made with the tide in her favor, was at the rate of 22.86 knots an hour, but the average of her five runs at top speed was 22.035.

The Montana made 14 runs today, being started at a 16-knot clip, which was increased gradually to 22 knots. The three final runs were at 22½ knots an hour. It was demonstrated that a trifle under 121 revolutions of the screws, per minute would produce the contract speed. The amount of horse-power developed on the fastest run was 26,608, and the average of the five top-speed runs was 26,000.

SANATORIUM FUND GROWING

Modern Woodmen Have Subscribed Almost $50,000 for National Home in Springs.

Nearly $50,000 has now been contributed to the fund for the establishment of the Modern Woodmen Sanatorium at Colorado Springs. According to the report of Treasurer E. E. Murphy of Leavenworth, Kans., which appears in the April number of the Modern Woodman, copies of which were received yesterday by Clerk H. C. Henderson, the grand total contributed up to March 17 was $48,493.50. Although only one appeal has been issued to the local camps, practically one-half of them have now responded. When the remainder are heard from it is expected that the total contributions will reach $100,000 by the meeting of the head camp at Peoria in June.

In this number of the paper is contained an article by Charles E. Piper, supreme scribe of the Royal League and president of the National Fraternal congress. He concludes the [illegible] highly, saying:

I am delighted at the proposed [illegible] establishing by the Modern Woodmen. You are on right lines and [illegible] generous support [illegible] membership. We have conducted the Royal League sanatorium at Black Mountain, N. C., for the past two years and have had results that are very gratifying to us. We have treated 81 patients so far, and of that number only five have died. I want to unqualifiedly congratulate the Modern Woodmen on this movement and have [illegible] undertaken."

SELEE LIKES OUTLOOK

HERE IN INTERESTS OF STATE BASEBALL LEAGUE.

If Assured Support of Fans Promises Fast Team—Coughlin Wants Park in Ivywild.

The project for the Colorado Springs baseball team in the Colorado State league took on a more definite shape yesterday with the arrival of Manager Frank Selee in this city. He came up from Pueblo yesterday morning and will spend two or three days here on matters relating to the team. Denver promoters will come down today, and the proposition will then be thoroughly considered with local fans and business men. Mr. Selee is pleased with conditions here and has found that the project meets with favor with all with whom he has talked.

He announced last night that he has received a letter from Alderman John J. Coughlin of Chicago, owner of The Zoo, containing a proposition to build the baseball park in conjunction with the amusement park grounds in Ivywild. This, together with the Roswell race track proposition, will be considered.

Asks Support of Fans.

"Colorado Springs I have always considered a good baseball town, both on account of the interest in the game among the people of the town and because of the large number of tourists who visit the city during the summer months," he said last night. "If assured of the proper support by the townspeople I am willing to take up the proposition and promise a strong team that will be in the fight all the time. I believe the State league proposition is a winner and know that it can give a good article of ball. It seems to me that the people here should be willing to subscribe for a certain number of season passes in order to insure the Colorado Springs team. This is [illegible] subscriptions but to pay [illegible] be received.

[illegible] Springs there are [illegible] players of ability, while for Pueblo I know of several stars [illegible] land. The main trouble will of course be in getting a strong batter, but I already have a line on a strong pitcher. It will be our aim to get together a good clean bunch of players who will put up a fast article of ball and whose conduct will be gentlemanly at all times."

Mr. Selee with Mrs. Selee is a guest at the Antlers during his stay here. With H. R. Hohr he went over the local situation yesterday meeting a number of local enthusiasts.

VANDERBILTS IN DIVORCE COURTS

ALFRED GWYNNE IS MADE DEFENDANT.

WIFE APPEALS FOR DIVORCE

CONTENTS OF PAPERS NOT YET MADE PUBLIC.

MARRIED JANUARY 11, 1901

Second Son of the Late Cornelius Vanderbilt Is in the Limelight. Had Just Set Sail for England When Legal Action Was Brought.

NEW YORK, April 1.—Within an hour after he had sailed for Europe today, Alfred Gwynne Vanderbilt was made defendant in a suit filed with the supreme court by his wife, Ellen French Vanderbilt. The nature of the action was not immediately disclosed, and counsel for the plaintiff refused tonight to say whether Mrs. Vanderbilt seeks a divorce or legal separation from her husband. Justice O'Gorman, before whom the proceedings were instituted, appointed Davis Metlure, a local attorney, as referee, to hear testimony, and to report findings and recommendations to the court.

Had secrecy for the time been wished, the action of counsel could not have been better timed. The offices of the county clerk are closed at 4 o'clock in the afternoon. Only a few moments before that hour the comparing clerk received the papers. By the time he was through with them, it was too late for the papers to be officially recorded today. They were placed in a safe and will be formally entered tomorrow morning.

Mrs. Vanderbilt was Ellen French, daughter of the late Francis Ormonde French, president of the Manhattan Trust company, and director of many [illegible]. Her mother has been abroad for several years, but is returning for the wedding of her granddaughter, Miss Pauline Leroy French, and Samuel Wagstaff, to take place at Newport on May 7.

Married in 1901.

Ellen, or Elsie as she was more generally known, was married to Alfred Vanderbilt on January 11, 1901. A year later their only child, William Henry, was born. Mr. Vanderbilt, as the second son of the late Cornelius Vanderbilt, inherited something like $60,000,000. He has been regarded as the head of the family since the estrangement which followed the marriage of Cornelius the eldest son, to Miss Grace Wilson. During the past year or so Mr. Vanderbilt has spent much of his time abroad. But recently he returned from London, where he plans to drive the coach venture as a public coach this spring between London and Brighton. Later, he is to be one of the judges at the International Horse Show at London, where his horses won many trophies last year.

Mr. Vanderbilt sailed at 3:15 o'clock this afternoon on the Cunard liner Mauritania, upon which his cousin, the Duchess of Marlborough, was also a passenger. The duchess has been the guest lately of her mother, Mrs. O. H. Belmont. Just before the Mauritania left her pier Mr. Vanderbilt declined to discuss the report that a separation from his wife was imminent. Half an

To defend the suit for an injunction to prevent the letting of the contract for the middle parking on Cascade avenue the property owners who [illegible] to oppose parking have taken steps to secure counsel. City Attorney W. B. Price will represent the city in the hearing before Judge W. S. Morris tomorrow morning.

[illegible] Springs has [illegible] possession of Cascade [illegible] and the other streets [illegible] the original plat [illegible] and this fact in itself should [illegible] title to question as to whether [illegible] or the abutting property owners own the street, said Mayor T. N. Boyd last night in discussing the case. The plat was filed in Springs [illegible] and this is the first time that any contention has been made that the streets do not belong to the city.

Regarding the contention that some of the signatures to the petition were not legal it seems to me that all the council is required in law to do is to ascertain that the petition expresses the will of a majority of the people concerned, and that it does not have to go into technicalities as if it were taking a deed on the property.

"One bad feature of this case is that the delay that may arise will work a hardship on scores of unemployed men who had been expecting work on the improvements. We had [illegible] to provide work for many of the [illegible] ashore line."

URGES REVISION AT SPECIAL SESSION OF CONGRESS.

MUST BE PROTECTIVE, HE SAYS

WRITES INDIANA REPUBLICANS ON THE SUBJECT.

INDORSED FOR PRESIDENCY

Resolution Adopted in State Convention Announces Vice President as Choice of Hoosiers for Chief Executive—Praise for Roosevelt.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., April 1.—Indiana Republicans, in state convention today, cleared the way for the adoption of a platform and the nomination of a state ticket tomorrow. Organization was completed with the selection of Representative Jesse Overstreet as temporary chairman and Representative John C. Chaney as permanent chairman. Addresses were made by these two gentlemen and by United States Senators Beveridge and Hemenway and Governor Hanly.

The resolutions committee tonight completed the platform, which, after a vigorous indorsement of Vice President Fairbanks as Indiana's choice for the presidential nomination and instruction to the national delegates to vote and work for his nomination at Chicago, includes a plank written by Mr. Fairbanks which insists upon a revision of the tariff by a special session of Congress, to be called for that purpose after the fall elections.

Mr. Fairbanks also wrote a letter to Chairman Overstreet to be read to the convention, which outlined his tariff views as reflected in the plank, which was adopted.

Planks in State Platform.

Other planks include a demand for a law against child labor, written by Senator Beveridge, recommendations for a national bureau of mines, allowing the defendant a police and hearing before an injunction is granted, currency reform without naming any particular bill, a law supplementing the present liquor laws to provide for local option with the county as a unit, a more general primary election law, an inheritance law, an indorsement of President Roosevelt, waterways improvements, an economic administration of national affairs, especially of the army and navy, and prohibiting corporations from contributing to campaign funds.

The vice-president's letter to Mr. Overstreet is as follows:

My Dear Mr. Overstreet—There seems to be no division of opinion among Republicans with respect to the questions which are to be embodied in the state platform, except, possibly, with regard to the time when the tariff should be revised.

I venture, therefore, to submit to you and through you to the committee on resolutions briefly my views upon this subject.

The [illegible] of a revision of the tariff [illegible] for [illegible] as to make it reasonably certain that revision will be undertaken at no distant date. I am morally certain that both of the leading political parties will declare in favor of some form of revision in their national platforms. It has been frequently suggested that revision should be undertaken at a special session of Congress to be convened immediately after the inauguration of the next President. A number of Republican state conventions have already made declarations to this effect.

Time Important Factor.

The time [illegible] is second only in importance to revision itself. It is obvious that [illegible] and right time to attempt it. It should not be entered upon during the period immediately [illegible] the coming [illegible] election. We can, however, safely [illegible] such schedules as may require [illegible] immediately following the coming [illegible] and prior to the fourth of March [illegible] session. It [illegible] business of the country. Why [illegible] the business of the country to a public hazard which we can easily avoid?

Party Action Urged.

We are in control of the legislative and executive [illegible] and will, of course, continue [illegible] the close of the [illegible] Congress. It would be manifest folly to attempt [illegible] on the eve of a [illegible] national election. We can, however, safely [illegible] such schedules as may require [illegible] immediately following the coming [illegible] and prior to the fourth of March [illegible] session. Ollie Whitney Cannot Locate Husband and Wants Divorce.

Ollie Whitney was married only three days to Charles E. Whitney when her husband told her that he was going to forsake her and go to Kansas City. He has not been heard from since. This is the allegation she makes in an application for public service, filed yesterday in the district court. She recently filed suit for divorce, charging desertion. The couple were married last August in this city. The sheriff's office has been unable to locate Whitney, and it is for this reason that Mrs. Whitney filed application for public service.

TWO PATROLMEN RESIGN

U. Harper and I. F. O'Neil Quit Local Police Force.

The Colorado Springs police force will be diminished by two well-known members until the next meeting of the Council, as two resignations took affect yesterday.

U. Harper, who has been on the force for the past five years, left yesterday for Denver, where he will be busy for a few days purchasing stock for his ranch at Hugo. In the future, Patrolman Harper will be enrolled under the cattle barons of the state. He has been developing the ranch for the past few years, and expects to spend the rest of his life there.

I. F. O'Neil, who has been on the force for the past three years, spent his last day yesterday in preserving the peace. He will go to Alamosa, where he has made arrangements for establishing a brickyard.

Both officers enjoy wide popularity among their associates and in the city at large. They enter their new fields of endeavor with the best wishes of a host of friends.

SATAN IS A PERSON

DEAN PECK SAYS HE COMMANDS HOSTS OF DEMONS.

Powers Both of Good and Evil Occupy Atmosphere and Wage Warfare, Says Dean.

That Satan is a personal identity in command of a horde of lesser demons inhabiting the atmosphere surrounding the earth, was the statement made by Dean A. C. Peck in his sermon last night on "The Kingdom of Satan." The sermon, which was from the text, "For we wrestle not against flesh and blood, but against principalities, against powers, against the rulers of the darkness of the world, against spiritual wickedness in high places," was in part as follows:

"The prevailing skepticism in the world with reference to the existence of a personal devil is wholly at variance with the teachings of the Bible, every word of them speaks of him as an individual having personal characteristics and attributes. He has a seat of government, chariots, and is the head of a host of evil spirits, great and powerful like himself. He is opposed to God and all good, manipulates temptation and sin to the undoing of men and has the power of death. He is also in command of the hosts of demons that infest the earth seeking for a habitation. The fact that Satan and his government are spiritual and invisible, does not militate against their reality. The most real things our race have to deal with today are sin, sickness and death—the weapons with which Satan fights men and God.

"Jesus referred to Satan three different times as "the prince of this world," and Paul calls him the God of this age." He is also designated by the great apostle as "the prince of the power of the air," referring, doubtless, to the fact that his government is located in the high or heavenly places in the atmosphere that surrounds the earth. That the atmosphere about us is filled with contending forces of both good and evil cannot be questioned. If our sensuous visions were spiritualized we might behold battles more terrific than it would be possible for physical forces to wage. We have no revelation as to how Satan came to be the prince of this world, but that he is we believe because Jesus said so.

"Satan will continue his present tactics until Jesus returns to this world and takes its government upon his shoulders. Satan will then be cast out for a thousand years. After that he will be loosed for a little season, will resume his warfare against good and God, and will then be "cast into the lake of fire and brimstone to be tormented day and night for ever and ever."

hour later Mrs. Vanderbilt's attorney appeared before Justice O'Gorman.

The domestic affairs of Mr. and Mrs. Vanderbilt have engaged public attention since March 24, when Mrs. Vanderbilt, accompanied by their son and maids, left Oakland farm, near Newport, R. I., and went to the home of her brother, Amos Tuck French, at Tuxedo Park, this state. Much of the furnishings at the Newport home have been shipped to Tuxedo Park. The French cottage at Tuxedo Park, which is known as "Tuck's Eden," has been put into shape, it is said, for continued occupancy.

Mr. Vanderbilt, while here, has had apartments at the Plaza hotel. Neither he nor his wife would discuss the reports which gained circulation after her removal from Newport.

At Tuxedo tonight it was said that Mrs. Vanderbilt had left New York and that she might go on to Newport. It was reported that she spent some time with her attorneys here today, but whether she remained in the city for the night is not known. At the Plaza hotel it was said that communications sent to the Vanderbilt apartments there remained unanswered.

It was learned late tonight from an official in the county court house who saw the papers that Mrs. Vanderbilt's action is one of absolute divorce.

Chandler P. Anderson, Mr. Vanderbilt's personal counsel, when seen tonight in regard to the suit, said:

"You see, I am in no position to talk on the affairs of my client."

When Mr. Anderson was informed that it had been learned that the action was one for absolute divorce, he said: "I cannot talk."

SAN JOSE, Cal., April 1.—Judge Ben B. Lindsey of Denver this morning addressed the teachers and students at the State Normal school on the "Relations of Teachers to Boys." Normal hall was crowded. Judge Lindsey went to San Francisco after concluding his address.

"Was your show a failure?"

"Not entirely," answered Mr. Stormington Barnes. "The public didn't like it at all, but we are still managing to convince the public that it is all right."—Washington Star.

U. II. AN EASY MARK

TIGERS GET THIRD SUCCESSIVE SHUTOUT.

Score Is 7 to 0 in Practice Game. Methodists Make Many Errors. College to Play Pueblo.

Special to The Gazette.

DENVER, April 1.—Denver university proved an easy victim for the Colorado College Tigers this afternoon. The score was 7 to 0 in a game that was never in danger. This is the third successive shutout to the credit of the Springs bunch this week, and makes a total of 33 runs that have been secured by the Tigers, while their home plate has not been crossed.

Denver did not prove as strong an opponent as had been anticipated by the Colorado College team, and clearly showed in today's game that it will not be a dangerous competitor for the intercollegiate honors. The team was particularly weak in fielding, eight errors being recorded against it, while the Tigers had only one. While it secured almost as many hits as the Tigers, none were turned into runs.

Van Stone pitched for the Tigers, and was in good form, having the game under control at all stages. Deesz also showed well behind the bat, while Siddons at bat and Captain Schmid on third were stars. Tones's game does not count in the intercollegiate series.

The lineup was as follows:

Colorado College.		Denver University.
Deesz	c.	O. K. Willey
Van Stone	p.	Bailey
Devine	1b	Brown
Jones	2b	DeRemer
Schmid	3b	Johnson
Sherry	ss	Brusse
Siddons	lf	R. Willey
Hyder	cf	Ashton
Mortis	rf	Dere

Score by innings:

										R.	H.	E.
Colo. Col.	0	1	0	3	0	1	0	0	2	7	4	1
D. U.	0	0	0	0	0	0	0	0	0	0	3	8

Umpire—Colburn.

The Tigers have finished their schedule in Denver, and tomorrow will leave for Colorado Springs, stopping over there on their way to Pueblo, where, on Friday, they will go against the Western league team. The record of the team in Denver has convinced the critics that it will be a strong factor in the intercollegiate race this season.

RUSSELL TO COACH MINES

Chicago Football Player to Succeed Ellsworth.

GOLDEN, April 1.—Clarence C. Russell, a pupil of Coach A. Alonzo Stagg of the University of Chicago, from which school have been graduated many of the most successful football coaches in the country, has been selected as coach of the football eleven for the fall of 1908 at the Colorado School of Mines. Russell played guard and tackle on the Maroon eleven for three years, last year coaching at the University of West Virginia. Russell was captain of the track team one year, being a weight man. He is at present finishing his course at Chicago. He will succeed Coach "Shorty" Ellsworth, who has resigned to enter business.

MORRISON WILL NOT PLAY

Springs Boy Not to Return to Boulder in Fall.

According to advices from Boulder, the University of Colorado football team will be without the services next fall of Joe Morrison, the popular Colorado Springs man and former star of the Terrors. Morrison has played end on the Boulder team for two years and has proven himself a star of no mean ability. He was the selection of some critics for the all-Colorado last fall, and was a general choice for the second team.

Morrison, it is said, has announced that he will probably not be in the university next fall, although he expects to return at the beginning of the second semester. Parental objections are said to be the cause of his change in plans.

GANS WINS HANDS DOWN

PHILADELPHIA, April 12. Joe Gans, colored champion lightweight pugilist of the world, stopped "Spike" Robson, the English featherweight champion, in the third round of what was scheduled as a six-round bout before the National Athletic club. Gans was nearly 10 pounds heavier than his opponent and his long reach gave him a decided advantage. Robson was dropped for the count early in the third round and a moment later he was again floored. The referee then stopped the bout.

FAIRBANKS HAS IDEAS ON TARIFF

of the next administration. We would be enabled, by this method, not only to guard against the contingency of a revision with a Democratic House, but we would put an end to apprehension in the business world much sooner than would otherwise be possible. So long as revision is undetermined and not imminent, it will be a powerful deterrent influence in the resumption of our industrial activities.

Uncertainty will continue from the time the conventions resolve upon revision until revision is an accomplished fact. Even if it were certain that the Republican party would retain control of both branches of Congress, as we believe it will, with an assurance that revision would be effected after the fourth of March, strictly according to the principles of protection, uncertainty and hesitancy would prevail, nevertheless, until the new schedules were enacted into law. Reduction made immediately following the coming election has this advantage, and it is a distinct advantage, over revision after the incoming of the new administration. It will reduce the period of disturbance some four months. This is a considerable gain at any time but is especially important now. Business conditions admonish us to reduce the factors of doubt and uncertainty, so far as possible, and to bring the forces of the business world as speedily as practicable to a condition of certainty and repose. This is the part of wise and patriotic statesmanship. It is good politics, and it is good business also.

Must Be Protective.

There is one potential fact which must not be obscured, and it is this: When revision occurs, it must be along protective lines. Furthermore, revision must be made by those who are firm in the protective faith, to the end that adequate protection shall be given to American industry, American labor and American capital. The principles of protection which have given such tremendous impetus to our trade and commerce must be carried into any revision which is undertaken.

We should bear in mind the fact, also, that there are many of the schedules in the present tariff law which do not require change. They are only reasonably protective, and business for 10 years has adjusted itself to them. The schedules where changed conditions have rendered alteration advisable are not so numerous as to require as long consideration as was given to the preparation of the present law. In short, with regard to many of the items in the schedules, there is no demand for any change. Congress can address itself to the consideration and modification of those which are the subject of criticism and which should be changed in the interest of a sound economic demand, with reasonable dispatch. It is not wise to enter upon the work of wholesale demolition, nor is it wise to make changes where they are not required by good business reasons or made necessary by some well-founded public demand.

Very sincerely yours,
(Signed.) CHARLES W. FAIRBANKS.

GRACE CAMERON IN "LITTLE DOLLY DIMPLES"

On Monday evening the dainty singing prima donna and Broadway favorite, Grace Cameron, with her opera company of 50, will come to the Opera House. Friends and admirers of Miss Cameron will be pleased to learn that in her present role she has the best part of her entire career, and that is saying much for Miss Cameron's previous successes when include many of the most important operatic organizations that this country has ever known. Miss Cameron has appeared in many styles of [illegible] spectrum career with such organizations as the Boston Ideal, "Rose Quilter," "Johnnie Comes Marching Home," "The Tenderfoot," the Savage Grand Opera company, "Piff Paff Pouff," etc., etc., but none that are so peculiarly fitted to her great versatility as the role she now plays in "Little Dolly Dimples." In the first act Miss Cameron is the little 12-year-old waif, full of mischief yet sympathetic and irresistible and in this act she is afforded an excellent opportunity to introduce her celebrated "baby" specialty which has endeared her to patrons of the vaudeville both in Europe and America. In the second act she appears as a charming and chic French maid. In this character Miss Cameron made a tremendous hit in "The Telephone Girl" and in Rice "The French Maid." Prominent in the supporting company are Al. Lawrence, the celebrated mimic, Florence Langdon Temple, Lucas Myers, Daisy King, Irving Newhoff, Phoebe Cardowne, The Criterion Musical Four, the Elm City Quartette, and a large lady and male chorus.

"THE VIRGINIAN."

Seats and boxes will be ready this morning for "The Virginian," which is to be the hit at the Opera house Saturday evening. This play is sure of a hearty welcome [illegible] it is doubtful if any loyal lover of romance has not yet read the story, for it has had a sale as large as that of "David Harum." This enormous popularity did not come about by chance. Owen Wister has given us one of the most charming love stories that American literature can boast of, and his cowboy hero is a type of American manhood that should live in popularity for all time. The play has been made from the book by Mr. Wister and the late Kirke La Shelle, and they succeeded in preserving the value of the original story, making the play one of the most popular dramas that has ever been produced in this country. It pleased New York and Chicago tremendously, running for eight months in the first named city, and since then has toured the country with great success. An exceptionally well balanced company, including W. S. Hart and Frank Campeau, under the management of the Kirke La Shelle company, will interpret the play.

Take Care of Your Complexion in the Spring.

Mme. Millicent Marvin, the noted specialist in beauty culture, gives some excellent advice in the April Delineator to women whose complexions are a source of worry owing to the sun and weather [illegible] prevalent in the spring months. Among other valuable hints, Mme. Marvin says:

"Rubbing the skin once or twice a day with a ripe tomato is said to be most helpful in clearing the complexion; lettuce juice has also a beneficial effect.

"While these simple remedies are perhaps not generally known or used they are none the less valuable.

"Probably the most safe and satisfactory thing for general use in keeping the skin soft and smooth and the complexion clear and brilliant, is a simple wash which can be easily prepared at home. The receipt is as follows:

"Take two ounces of Rose Water, one ounce of Cologne Spirits and four ounces of Epsotone. Put the Epsotone in a pint of hot water (not boiling), and after it is dissolved, strain and let cool. Then add the Rose Water and Cologne Spirits.

"Apply this wash liberally every night and morning to the face, neck and arms, after thoroughly washing in warm water, and you will be the envy and admiration of every woman you know.

FINED FOR BUILDING FIRE

Women Punished for Violating Law in Cheyenne Canon.

A rock in the middle of a stream is ordinarily a safe place on which to build a camp fire, and there would seem to be little danger of a large fire originating from such a source. Nevertheless, even with these precautions, it is against the law to build a camp fire in North Cheyenne canon, as two women found to their sorrow yesterday.

The two women were arrested by the caretaker of the canons, and appeared in police court yesterday morning, despite the efforts of a gallant young man who, a friend of the two women, had happened to pass the spot just a short time before the arrest and had tried to take all the blame upon himself. The magistrate fined each of the women $25. This is the second case of recent date in which a heavy fine has been imposed for this offense in carrying out of the strict regulations for the prevention of forest fires.

The arrest followed the filing of the deeds.

The General Demand

of the Well Informed of the World has always been for a simple, pleasant and efficient liquid laxative remedy of known value; a laxative which physicians could sanction for family use because its component parts are known to them to be wholesome and truly beneficial in effect, acceptable to the system and gentle, yet prompt, in action.

In supplying that demand with its excellent combination of Syrup of Figs and Elixir of Senna, the California Fig Syrup Co. proceeds along ethical lines and relies on the merits of the laxative for its remarkable success.

That is one of many reasons why Syrup of Figs and Elixir of Senna is given the preference by the Well-informed. To get its beneficial effects always buy the genuine—manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Co. only, and for sale by all leading druggists. Price fifty cents per bottle.

WHO OWNS THE STREETS?

IN the Open Parliament today appears a letter on the Cascade Avenue parking question, which meets with our unqualified approval. Dr. Caldwell has stated the case succinctly and with as little temper as one can be expected to display in discussing a question which has been complicated in such extraordinary fashion.

Everybody knows that Cascade Avenue from Cache la Poudre Street south, is almost a disgrace to the city. Instead of being a show street the avenue which all of us might exhibit to visiting friends with pride, it is a mere waste of shifting sand—intolerably dusty in dry weather, muddy in wet weather, uneven, unkempt, and unsightly at all times. The expense of maintaining it in proper condition without resort to the parking method is greater than the city government can afford to bear, and the only alternative is to adopt such permanent improvements as have been put into effect north of the College. The law provides that the cost of such improvement shall be borne by the owners of the abutting property, which of course is the only practicable plan. Years ago a movement was started to make this improvement but it was balked. A few months ago it was revived—and immediately the wail of the obstructionist was heard in the town. This frightened not body, for the knockers we have always with us; the many who favored the one plan which experience has proved wise went ahead regardless of the opposition of the few. The petition asking the Council to create the necessary parking district and to let the contract for the work was prepared and signed by the officers and legal representatives of owners of the requisite majority of the frontage. The Council unanimously coincided with what was obviously an expression not merely of the will of a majority of the property-owners in the proposed parking district, but of the opinion of a large majority of the people of Colorado Springs at large.

But now come the few obstructionists to play their last card—a petition for an injunction restraining the city authorities from letting the contract. They want side parking or nothing at all, but they are adopting a peculiar way to get it. Rather than have middle parking, which the plainest lesson of experience shows is far more advantageous, they would defeat the whole project for the improvement of Cascade Avenue. Indeed, if the truth were known, they probably would prefer to have the street remain in its present condition. To bolster up their cause they advance the extraordinary contention that the streets in the original townsite of Colorado Springs, in which most of the affected district lies, does not belong to the city, but to the owners of the abutting property, owing to technical flaws in the filing of the original plat of the town of Colorado Springs.

DO THEY MEAN IT SERIOUSLY?

General Palmer founded Colorado Springs, and if there is anything wrong with the plat of the townsite, or with anything else in connection with its beginnings, he ought to know it as well as, or better than, anybody else, but it is an amazing thing to learn from him at this late date that a condition was permitted to come about whereby the city does not own its streets. If his present contention is valid the city has acted without authority in granting franchises for street railway, telephone, and electric light lines, gas pipes, steam-heating pipes, and other public utilities. The petitioners for these concessions should have made application to the owners of the abutting property, instead of to the city government, and it is to those owners that compensation is justly due. For example, the street railway company, which claims to have a perpetual franchise on its Manitou line, has no franchise at all within the original townsite because its franchise was obtained from a body—the City Council—which has no actual control of the streets. We shall now expect to see the owners of the abutting property sending in bills to the Street Railway company, the Electric company, the Gas company, and the Telephone company for rental. Indeed, what is there to prevent these owners from levying tribute on pedestrians and drivers of vehicles who use the streets?

Really, the Cascade Avenue obstructionists are just about thirty-seven years too late. They should have advanced their remarkable contention in 1871 or 1872, or thereabouts, when there was still a chance of making it stick. The city of Colorado Springs has been proceeding all these years on the theory that it owned its streets, just as any other municipality does, and we rather fancy that if the case ever gets into one of the higher courts this fact would receive weighty consideration. It is hardly [illegible] that the obstructionists will succeed in their desire to block public improvements, but it is scarcely conceivable that they will be able to establish their claim to part ownership of the city streets.

SALARIES OF AMBASSADORS.

IN the recent discussion of the Hill incident one of the reasons given for President Roosevelt's anxiety to send Dr. Hill to Berlin was his desire to show Europe that America is not compelled to confine its important diplomatic appointments to rich men. Dr. Hill is a man of moderate means, as compared with General Horace Porter, Whitelaw Reid, Charlemagne Tower, Robert S. McCormick and some others who have represented the United States at foreign capitals recently. It is to be presumed that he has the means of keeping up an establishment on the scale made necessary by the dignity of the position, but it is hardly to be supposed that the American Embassy during his term of service will be the scene of such brilliant social functions as have been given by Mr. Tower. Indeed, it is reported that Emperor William's supposed desire to have Mr. Tower retained is due to the added brilliancy which that gentleman's social affairs give to the court.

A few days ago an interview was printed with the present American Ambassador to Germany in which he complained to the inadequacy of the salary and perquisites given by the United States Government to its foreign representatives. This is an old story which has often been aired, for it is the real reason why none but rich men can afford to accept appointments to the higher diplomatic posts. With the exception of the United States nearly all governments own the houses in which their foreign representatives are quartered, and these establishments, fully equipped with servants, carriages, etc., are furnished free of cost to the official. But the American representative, whether he be Ambassador to Great Britain or Minister to the most insignificant Central American republic must select his own house and pay the rent and all other expenses.

BIG JOBS BUT SMALL SALARIES.

This would not be so bad if he received an adequate salary, but the compensation is so small that in many cases it is not even sufficient to pay house rent. There are ten ambassadors each of whom receives a salary of $17,500 a year, and they are accredited to Great Britain, France, Germany, Russia, Austria-Hungary, Italy, Japan, Turkey, Mexico, and Brazil. Of the ministers six receive salaries of $12,000 each, those at Argentina, Cuba, Belgium, Spain, The Netherlands, and China. The others receive $10,000 each. With a few exceptions foreign representatives in the consular service receive from $2,000 to $6,000.

When it is remembered that an ambassador or minister must live in a fine house in a fashionable quarter, maintain an expensive establishment and do a great deal of entertaining, these salaries are not as large as they may seem. He must do these things in order to uphold the dignity of his Government. It would never do for the official representative of a great and rich nation like the United States to live in a cheap residence or in an apartment house and practice small economies in order to live within his salary, yet that is what some of them have been forced to do. The effect of this has been to discredit the United States Government and bring upon it the ridicule and contempt of other foreign representatives of nations which in comparison with ours are merely third-class.

Congress has thus far refused to take the necessary steps toward purchasing residences in foreign capitals for the use of the diplomatic and consular corps, but since it has only recently voted an increase of salary to its own members perhaps it may now be able the better to see the justice of the claims of the men in the foreign service.

LITERARY KNOCKS IN MISSOURI.

From the Springfield (Mo.) Leader.

Thomas M. Johnson, of Osceola, has picked out 10 poems which he says are the nobles in the English language. He flatters the vanity of the "intellectuals" by making a list of poems that are angels' food. The last man who read Milton's "Comus" because he liked it was killed by Georgia crackers at the first battle of Bull Run. The men who have gone crazy from trying to understand Emerson's "Brahma" are now costing the citizens of New England clearing house checks that they can ill afford to send to the treasurer of the foolish house. Placing Shelley's "Hymn to Intellectual Beauty" on the list was nothing but a foxy attempt to stand in with the young lady teachers, a piece of platonic affection for a bunch of goodlookers.

PLEASANT AT THE FINISH.

From the Sturgis (Mich.) Journal.

On the 25th day of February a surprise party was given on Wesley W. Zimmerman at the home of his parents, northeast of Nottawa, it being his twenty-first birthday. A short programme was arranged for the occasion, as follows:

Music by Logan Gilkerson on the graphophone.

Instrumental selection by the Misses Eva and Cora Carper.

Music and song by the Misses Rena and Hazel Parham.

Recitation by Miss Bertha Hambright of a poem.

After refreshments were served, a beautiful rocking chair, as a gift from his many friends, was presented him, with a few well-chosen words from Samuel Kelty. Also a sum of gold from his father and a beautiful box of chocolate bonbons from Wolf Brothers' Bank. The remainder of the evening was spent very pleasantly.

EVERYDAY HEROISMS.

From the Philadelphia Public Ledger.

Walt Whitman, the poet, had a plain, true word to say, which every sort of man, including those who deny to him the appellation "poet," may accept: "There is no trade or employment but the young men following it may become a hero." A great many people have the notion that romance is a thing of the dim and distant past, with which present-day people have no sort of concern; that the tragic and the wonderful, the heroic, the glorious, the beautiful in life are to be sought and found only in some distant era; that exalted virtue and greatness of soul are things to read about, and that the opportunity to display and emulate the highly prized qualities that ennoble and lift up men and women only comes to certain favored peoples in romantic ages, remote from the actual living present and far distant from the country and clime in which they live.

MUST TREAT ALL SHIPPERS ALIKE.

From the Philadelphia Record.

Railroad companies and big shippers who have been in the habit of making secret rates with the carriers might as well give up the fight. They must desist from discriminations for the future, and they have got to pay roundly for their violations of law in the past. These discriminations have been unlawful for twenty-one years. From time to time since the original Interstate commerce law was passed Congress has added enactments designed to make the law more effective, for the carriers and the shippers found it easy to evade or to violate the earlier statute; and now there is enough law, enough energy on the part of the government, and unquestionably enough public sentiment, to ascertain the facts and punish the offenders. The railroads are common carriers, and as such, both under the common and the statute law, they must treat all shippers alike.

THE PARKING OF CASCADE AVENUE.

To the Editor of The Gazette:

It will be 30 years this coming summer since the writer held his first visit to Colorado Springs, and since then it has grown from the little village of 1878 to the beautiful city of 1908. During all that time the roadways of Cascade avenue, south of the college, has lagged behind in the march of improvements, and has been a discredit to a municipality which advertises itself as a health and tourist resort. This has been due to no neglect of the city authorities, but to the practical impossibility of keeping so wide a roadway in shape without expending on this street a disproportionate amount of the city's appropriation.

After every melting snow the street is a sea of mud, after every cloudburst shower it becomes a river bed, and in dry weather it is a Sahara of dust. Our visitors riding up and down it are spattered with the mud, powdered with the dust and are bumped over its transverse ridges, leaving on their minds and persons very disagreeable reminders of our municipal enterprise. All these unpleasant features have been remedied north of San Rafael street in a practical and esthetic manner by center parking and the street made a garden where formerly it was a sandy waste.

As to the respective merits of center and side parking, one has only to compare this stretch to the north with the two measly and moth-eaten strips of unkempt turf which illustrate side parking in the college territory. As a matter of fact, it is not a question of center or side parking, but a question of parking or no parking, a question of putting through most desirable public improvements or giving way to a group of obstructionists and postponing it indefinitely. It is well known that some of them are opposed to any improvements from financial or sentimental reasons, while one of their number has refused to carry out the city ordinance for a cement walk. A majority of the residents and property owners signed for center parking, and the Council passed the necessary ordinance to give it legal effect.

Then appears General Palmer on the scene at this late day, buys a piece of property on the avenue, and, backed up by a mass of legal technicalities, uses all the power of his great wealth to defeat the will of the majority of the local residents and the desires of the great majority of our citizens, that this improvement be made at once. Such a bold attempt to defeat the popular will or the use, or misuse, of money is most regrettable. The general is, unfortunately, not a resident of Colorado Springs, and is hardly in touch with popular feeling on such a matter of purely local concern. It is most astonishing that the founder of the city, after a lapse of some 35 years, should raise the contention that the city does not own its own streets. If that is true, some rather serious complications will arise. Must the city pay rent to the abutters for using the streets all these years, or will it sue them to regain the amounts paid for the upkeep of the streets? If, through some defect in a legal document, or through ignorance, carelessness or trickery in the early days, the original plat is defective, and a cloud is thrown on the title to real estate in this city, one would expect the president of the Colorado Springs company to do all he could to right such a wrong to innocent purchasers. Nobody has a deeper appreciation than the writer of the admirable public services of General Palmer, or of his munificent gifts for the public weal, which will carry his name down to farthest posterity and make for him a monument "more lasting than bronze," but when he pushes in at the eleventh hour to a question of local interest and uses his great wealth and influence to defeat the popular will, his action is open to candid criticism.

Colorado Springs is not a German village under control of a benevolent despotism. The whole tendency of the present day is away from the dictatorship of great wealth. Independence and self-respect are far more valuable assets to a progressive western community than dependence on paternalism and charity.

A long needed public improvement, indorsed by a majority of the local residents, and by the citizens generally, through their representatives in the Council, should be put through against a minority of obstructionists, however rich or influential.

THE MAN AND HIS JOB

By Herbert J. Hapgood

Recently the Chicago Association of Commerce sent out letters to 616 business firms with a view to obtaining the exact state of the employment market. A year ago these business houses employed 97,800 persons, but the statistics thus gathered show that today they are employing only 86,400 persons. This is a decrease of less than 12 per cent.

These figures are important in that they dispel the idea, which stubbornly sticks in the minds of a few pessimistic ones. Strange to say, in spite of reassuring statements and efforts to restore confidence there are still some calamity howlers who will not believe in the bright side. These people persist in spreading rumors that over 50 per cent of the working population are unemployed. The Chicago statistics certainly ought to drive such statements to the wall.

Furthermore the 616 firms state that they would take on 4,920 additional hands inside of sixty days, and President Fargon, of the association, says that data collected from all branches of industry indicate that by the first of March only 7 per cent of the resident working population of Chicago will be idle.

This is good news indeed and is sure to put the panic fakers to route.

Neutral the stars proclaim nor good nor ill.
On thine own strength depend to gain thy will.

This 93rd day the planet Saturn is in quadrature with earth and sun.

The astrological aspect is indeterminate, and vague. In no quarter of the heavens is there a definite sign either for good or ill. Avoid, therefore, all enterprises this day that have in them any element open to the uncertain favor of fortune. Reckon only with known factors.

On household undertakings alone does the planetary configuration shed definite and good promise. Try new baking recipes, or experiment with difficult dishes.

As wise as, or tomorrow herbs under Uranus will be most potent.

A strange adventure will befall the woman with today as her birthdate. An Amaryllis may bring her an unexpected pleasure.

Deception and fraud threaten the man with this birthdate. He will be tempted sorely to throttle his judgment in favor of a great desire. The unwed will meet those who will influence their after-life.

The girl born today will be bound to lead in something. Whether that characteristic takes a frivolous or a worthy form will depend on her training. Her capabilities will repay earnest cultivation.

The boy born this day will be generous and clever. He will do well in business.

Out With the Adenoids

"At least two-thirds of all cases of earache and, indeed, five-sixths of all cases of deafness in children are due to adenoids. They also cause arrested development and apparent stupidity." So says Dr. Woods Hutchinson, in this week's issue of THE SATURDAY EVENING POST.

Back in your throat, and so high up that you can't see it, there is a place that says, "Welcome, adenoids." But if your children are keeping these undesirable guests you should get them out of the way, without a return ticket.

A prominent educator says: "When I hear a teacher say that a child is stupid, my first instinctive conclusion is either that the child has adenoids or that the teacher is incompetent."

By a very simple operation these adenoids are removed, and many suffering, "dull" children are restored to health and mental vigor.

Retail Grocers and Butchers Will Refuse to Carry Accounts Over 30 Days After June 1.

Retail grocers and butchers of the city have decided to limit the credit extended to patrons to a period of 30 days. Final and formal action on their decision will be taken at the regular meeting of the Retail Grocers and Butchers association of Colorado Springs, to be held April 18.

The reason for this proposed action, as given by the dealers, is that they are required to settle promptly with the wholesale dealers, and if they are not able to collect their own accounts, it leaves them without the means of doing this.

Failure to pay within the 30-day limit on the part of any patrons will be reported to the credit department of the association, with the result that all dealers will be notified of delinquents. It has also been decided to require those who are already in arrears to settle up to within the 30-day limit.

The resolution that will be adopted for future regulation of the grocers and butchers is as follows:

"We, the undersigned Colorado Springs, Colorado City and Manitou grocers and butchers, do hereby agree that on and after June 1, 1908, we will insist on a settlement in full of all accounts due, and we will carry no balances.

"No new accounts will be opened with anyone under any circumstances where a clear receipt from last creditor cannot be shown."

S. H. Kinsley Wants to Collect $1,500 From Bavicanora Co.

To recover $1,500, alleged to be due on a promissory note, S. H. Kinsley yesterday filed suit against George A. Peckham and Laurence T. Gray. In the complaint it is declared that these two men, with G. E. Maxwell, R. J. Verner and Archibald J. Gillis, are directors of the Bavicanora Mines company of Arizona, a company which, it is declared, although doing business in this state, has never filed the necessary copy of its articles of incorporation with the secretary of state. On September 28, 1907, the company issued a promissory note to M. F. Schuft, which has been transferred to the plaintiff.

WILL DELIVER BILLS

ELECTRIC AND GAS COMPANIES DECIDE ON CHANGE.

Man Who Reads Meters Will Present Accounts to Consumers Personally.

Uncle Sam will be the boss through a new system that will be adopted this month by the Colorado Springs Light and Power company, which will distribute its monthly bills through a corps of carriers instead of sending them through the mails, as heretofore.

There are several reasons given for this change, which, it is expected, will be better not only for the patrons, but for the company.

The one who delivers the bill will be the one who read the meter, and whose figures the bill is made up from. He will be able to explain to the consumer any vexatious question that confronts him as to the time and hour he read the meater, the standing at the time the bill is delivered, if a comparison is desired, and any other questions as to dial reading the consumer may desire.

By calling twice a month any defects in lighting may be the easier reported and remedied.

By delivery by the same one who read the meter it is certain that the bill reaches the individual apartment that it is intended for. Changes of name, addresses and the like may thus be kept more accurately and to the wish of the consumer.

The change has been created despite the extra expense, as a result of the many requests for the change made by consumers, and is solely designed to bring closer and better relations between the companies and the public in general.

This method was adopted by the Gas company some six years ago and worked admirably, but was dropped when the two companies were consolidated.

REMARKABLE STRIKES

MARCH HAS BEEN A GOOD MONTH IN CRIPPLE CREEK.

One of Most Important Strikes Was Made in Lucky Corner—Returns as High as $6,000.

Special to The Gazette.

CRIPPLE CREEK, April 1.—March has recorded some remarkable strikes, which have been made in mines and leases in the Cripple Creek district. In a large measure, these strikes have been the outcome of the very low freight and treatment charges, which have stimulated mining men to mine for a low grade of ore, and in doing so they have in several instances opened up some high-grade ore of remarkable value.

Messrs. Thompson and Humphrey, who are operating a lease on the Little Clara of the Work company, and another on the Lucky Corner claim of the Doctor-Jack Pot, through the Moffat tunnel, and from which they have been shipping from six to eight cars per week of a grade ranging from three to five ounces, about equally divided between the two claims, have within the past week made a most important strike in a vertical shaft in virgin territory on the Lucky Corner. In this new shaft, which has been sunk to an approximate depth of 130 feet, the operators came into a vein between two and three feet wide from which different assays give returns of from five to 10 ounces, and assays from a fairly good-sized streak gives returns running to $6,000 and better. Messrs. Thompson and Humphrey are of the opinion that the Lucky Corner lease is destined to produce more and better ore than was shipped from the Little Clara, which produced over $1,000,000 gross during the past three years. The ore in the Little Clara is (this) exhausted, unless more is found in the course of development work.

Thompson and Humphrey have, since June 1, 1907, or nine months ago, during the course of development in the Lucky Corner claim, shipped out $60,000 gross. This ore, which was mined exclusively while developing the vein, gave average values in carload lots of $50 in gold to the ton.

Beginning very soon, the tonnage from the Luck Corner will be extremely heavy, and as the grade of ore is all smelter, the operators will unquestionably make a fortune before the expiration of the lease, and the stockholders of the Doctor-Jack pot company will probably receive dividends.

TONNAGE IS CURTAILED

Golden Cycle Devotes More Time to Development Work.

Special to The Gazette.

CRIPPLE CREEK, April 1.—It is learned that the Golden Cycle mine has cut off one shift of men and a curtailment of tonnage from this property has been made. For several weeks past the Golden Cycle mine has been producing from 375 to 400 tons every 24 hours, but the tonnage has now been cut to 175 to 200 per day.

The company has been having the main working shaft sunk under contract and the contractors have just attained a depth of 1,400 feet. Laterals will be run just as soon as this work is completed. The company has recaped water, and it is proposed to continue sinking to a depth of 1,500 feet. The Golden Cycle mine is in splendid physical condition. Until the curtailment of tonnage, it is understood, has been made on account of the interference with the sinking and development work planned.

STOCKS ARE UNCERTAIN

PRICES FLUCTUATE OVER WIDE RANGE DURING DAY.

Strong Effect Produced on Market Early by Favorable News From Erie Railroad.

NEW YORK, April 1.—A galvanic effect was produced on the stock market at the outset today by the announcement that permission had been granted to the Erie railroad by the public service commission to issue $15,000,000 of notes. It was assumed that the settlement of the financial crisis confronting that company was thus assured and the receivership of the company, which was freely rumored yesterday, thus avoided. Influence of the news in establishing confidence waned somewhat as the day progressed. This was due to the policy of determined reticence followed by the officials of the company and the bankers as to the success being met with in carrying out the project, beyond the fact that interest due today on the convertible bonds of the company was paid, no details were forthcoming of the arrangements for the sale of the authorized notes, the rate of interest which they bear or the terms on which the bankers would take them. There was a notable rebound in the prices of the notes which matured April 6 next from the price of 82 at which they sold yesterday. The discount was felt to be very heavy on an instrument which would be redeemable at par in a week's time.

These conditions probably had something to do with the uncertainty which developed in the security market. Attempts were made to maintain advance and, in fact, prices went higher than the opening level. Union Pacific was a conspicuous sustaining force, and was heavily bought on an upward range. The sharp rally in United States Steel also relieved the market from the depressing effect of the recent signs of liquidation in that stock. A good effect was produced by the February earnings statement of the Pennsylvania system, owing to the marked progress shown in effecting retrenchment of operating cost.

Other February statements published during the day, did not prove the Pennsylvania's rate of retrenchment fully met by other systems, the Rock Island particularly showing the operating expenses still expanding in spite of the heavy increase on gross earnings. While shrinkage of net earnings is controlled by this curtailment of operating cost, consideration has to be given to the effect in cutting down wage funds and the sums available for outlay in consumptive needs for commodities. Calculations are beginning to appear, also, of the decline in efficiency of equipments likely to result from measures of economy enforced by the railroads. There was little effect produced directly on the market by the reduction in dividend rate on Atchison from a 6 to a 5 per cent basis.

The Copper stocks were a point of depression again today with the American Smelting company. A sharp drop in the price of copper in London, and another reduction in the quoted prices at the New York Metal Exchange had to do with this. This group also continues to suffer from the suspicion of a speculative relation in efforts to float new mining stock in the curb market. The April disbursements did not cause a ripple in the money market.

Bonds were irregular. Total sales, par value, $1,622,000. United States bonds were unchanged on call.

WANT TO PURCHASE LEASE

Owners of Dante Would Like to Secure Lease on Own Property.

Special to The Gazette.

CRIPPLE CREEK, April 1.—It is learned here on good authority that there is a deal now pending for the purchase, for a good many thousand dollars, of the long-time lease held by the British American Leasing company on the Ignite holdings on Bull hill. The prospective purchasers are said to be the officers and owners of the Dante mine.

The Dante is shipping out about 450 tons of ore a week, and the ore is giving good values. The shoots in this property are exceptionally large, and the lease is considered to be one of the best in the camp. The British American officials, during the past year, sunk a double compartment shaft and have ore on every level from the first to the 500-foot point.

FAIR EXCHANGE.

A New Back for an Old One—How It Is Done in Colorado Springs.

The back aches at times with a dull, indescribable feeling making you weary and restless; piercing pains shoot across the region of the kidneys, and again the loins are so lame to stoop is agony. No wonder people put a plaster to the back in this condition. You cannot reach the cause. Exchange the bad back for a new and stronger one. Follow the example of this Colorado Springs citizen.

Mrs. C. Anderson, 31 East Platte Ave., Colorado Springs, Colo., says: "I first gave a statement recommending Doan's Kidney Pills over seven years ago, and I feel that I can recommend them even more highly at this time. Previous to using them I had suffered for some time from excruciating pains in the small of my back, often extending to my shoulders. I procured Doan's Kidney Pills at the D. T. Butcher Drug Co. and was quickly relieved of the trouble. I can conscientiously say that since first using Doan's Kidney Pills I have never suffered as formerly. When feeling tired or run down an appeal to their use banishes the trouble very quickly. Other members of my family have used them with the same excellent results."

WHEAT CLOSES STRONG

MARKET IS NERVOUS GREATER PART OF DAY.

Trade in Corn of Light Volume and Market Inclined to Weakness. Oats Dull; Provisions Weak.

CHICAGO, April 1.—The wheat market was nervous the greater part of the day and prices ranged from ¼ to ⅝ below to ⅞ to 1c above yesterday's closing quotations. During the last hour a decidedly strong tone developed on a brisk demand by shorts which was chiefly due to the predicted temperature in the winter wheat belt. A little firmness was manifested at the start, owing to continued small movement in the northwest, but prices soon eased off on selling based on the generally favorable condition of the new crop in the southwest. The late rally carried prices to a new high mark for the day, and the market closed strong at almost the top notch. May opened unchanged to ⅛c higher at 92⅞@93, sold off to 91⅞@92, and then advanced to 93⅛. The close was at 92⅞. Clearances of wheat and flour were equal to 196,000 bushels. Primary receipts were 429,000 bushels, compared with 1,300,000 bushels the corresponding day a year ago. Minneapolis, Duluth and Chicago reported receipts of 255 cars, against 225 last week and 311 a year ago.

Trade in corn was of light volume and the market was inclined to be weak until the late rally in wheat caused a moderate advance. Local longs were the chief sellers, and a leading commission house was the principal buyer. There was very little in the news of the day to inspire either buying or selling, unsettled weather in the corn belt being the most important factor. The market closed firm, 1@1½c net higher. May opened unchanged to ⅛ lower, at 66⅝, sold off to 65⅝@⅞, and then advanced to 66⅞@⅞. The close at 66⅞. Local receipts were 141 cars, with 24 of contract grade.

Trade in oats was dull and prices were inclined to follow the trend of the wheat market and corn market. May opened ⅛ lower, at 53⅝, sold at 53, and then advanced to 53⅝. The close was at 53½. Local receipts were 123 cars.

Provisions were weak early in the day on general profit taking, but rallied late in the session as a result of considerable covering by shorts, all of the early loss being regained. At the close May pork was 5c higher, at $12.72½; lard was a shade to 5c lower, at $8.47@8.50; ribs were 12½c higher, at $7.32@7.35.

RICH ORE 1,200 FEET DEEP

Lessees on Ruby Property Uncover Two-Foot Vein Carrying Ten Ounces Gold.

Special to The Gazette.

CRIPPLE CREEK, April 1.—Messrs. Humphrey and Thompson, who recently [illegible] Ruby property, have encountered a very rich strike at a depth of 1,200 feet. These lessees have been doing prospect work for about three weeks on a month's lease, and while drifting on the 1,200-foot level put a round of shots into the foot wall and uncovered two feet of ore, which shows calavarite and sylvanite in profusion. The assays taken carefully clear across the two feet indicate that the ore will give returns in car lots of from seven to 10 ounces. Some of the assays went into the picture values. Thompson and Humphreys will begin making shipments from this new strike during the present week. This strike is of the utmost importance, as it was made at depth, and in a property that has been prospected for several years with varying and generally unsatisfactory results.

DANTE HAS RICH ORE

Lessees Have Been Netting $1,000 Per Day for Some Time.

Special to The Gazette.

CRIPPLE CREEK, April 1.—The British-American Leasing company, which is operating on the Dante, on Bull hill, is shipping out 60 tons every day and every third day a consignment of 75 tons is marketed to the United States Reduction and Refining company. The last returns on screenings went $75 per ton, and the coarse rock has recently improved some and is giving values of a little better than one ounce in gold to the ton. It is stated on the very best of authority that this lease during the past 10 days has been netting the British-American Leasing company $1,000 per day. The ore is being mined on several different levels from 500 feet and the Trail tunnel level up. The new shaft, double compartment, is now in first-class working order, and the management is enabled to produce a large quantity of ore.

TERRORS' GAME SATURDAY

Will Meet Rock Islands for Second Game.

Captain Murphy will lead his High School Terrors into the lists for the second time with the Rock Island team as their opponents. This will take place, probably on Washburn field, on the coming Saturday, arrangements having been made for a return game with the team that won a 6 to 3 victory over the High School lads on their own field last Saturday. The captain of the Terrors thinks his men are good enough to defeat the Rock Islands, although he admits that the latter are a pretty fast bunch of players. The game will be full of interest if it is anything like the one of last week, which was the fastest played this season on a local diamond.
